

Welcome to Sabino Canyon

Brother Pearry Green, pastor of Tucson Tabernacle, has welcomed visitors to Sabino Canyon since March 1966. In his tours, he has related the experiences that Brother Branham had in the canyon. At times, he also has related his own experiences of finding the locations where Brother Branham was.

Brother Branham never took anyone up Sabino Canyon to show them the locations where he was when the sword appeared in his hand (1963), when he saw the odd-looking squirrel (1965), when he saw the white dove (1965), or when he found the word "Eagle" written with white quartz in the rock (1965). But, several times Brother Branham related these experiences to Brother Green, to the point that Brother Green wondered why he spent so much time retelling him these events.

On Thursday, March 10, 1966, Brother Billy Paul Branham was very discouraged and lonely since his dad had passed on December 24, 1965. He had spent the day in Sabino, looking for these places. As he was talking to Brother Green that night, he said, "Brother Pearry, I'd give anything to be able to find this place where God did these things for my father." This prompted Brother Green to ask to see the photographs that he knew Brother Branham had taken in the canyon. Brother Branham was not a photographer, so it was unusual for him to take photos.

Brother Billy Paul showed them to Brother Green. As Brother Green looked at them in sequence, he felt that Brother Branham was trying to show the way to these locations. On Monday, Brother Green had a very strong urge to go to Sabino to try to find these places, but since he didn't have anyone to go with him, he didn't go.

On Tuesday afternoon, March 15, 1966, Brother Green asked another brother to go with him up the canyon. By following the leadership of the Holy Ghost, Brother Green was able to locate the rock where "Eagle" was written with white quartz. He used the descriptions Brother Branham personally told him along with what Brother Branham gave in his sermons, as well as remembering what he saw on the photographs. With these, he located the places where Brother Branham had his experiences.

Overview of Sabino Canyon

#1 – Tram Stop 9 – To the left of the “1” is the restroom. Directly up and behind the restroom is the ravine with Dove Cove and the two large rocks, which can be seen from Stop 9.

#2 – The unfinished road that led to the game trail that connected to the Phone Line Trail at Sword Mountain (#3)

#3 – Sword Mountain – This is where the sword appeared in Brother Branham’s hand while he was praying (1963). Directly below the “3” is “pulpit rock” on top of the mountain.

#4 – The trail that leads to Phone Line Trail (Telephone Line Trail)

#5 – The switchbacks in the trail

#6 – Just around the corner to the right of the “6,” the trail divides into two directions. After the trail division, a very short distance to the right (east) is Dove Cove and the two large rocks that are the size of the duplex apartment where Brother Branham was living. In this area, Brother Branham saw the odd-looking squirrel on Monday, September 20, 1965, and the dove on Tuesday, September 21, 1965.

#7 – Phone Line Trail – Continuing further to the right leads to Sword Mountain (#3).

#8 – After reaching the spot in the trail where it divides into two directions (near “6”), turning to the left (west) leads to Eagle Rock.

This photo was taken from the outcropping, where it appears that on September 23, 1965, Brother Branham also took a photo to show Sword Mountain.
